Treesa joined Kidmans in 2015 and has worked in the Self-Managed Superannuation Fund (SMSF) sector since 2000. Over more than two decades, she has built extensive knowledge and experience across all aspects of SMSF administration, compliance, and regulatory requirements.

During her career, Treesa also spent time working within the financial planning industry, providing her with valuable insight into broader wealth management and retirement planning strategies. This diverse experience allows her to understand the needs of trustees, accountants, tax agents, and financial advisers, while delivering practical and effective SMSF solutions.

She has a strong understanding of superannuation legislation and compliance obligations and is passionate about helping clients navigate the complexities of SMSFs to achieve their long-term financial objectives. Treesa enjoys watching cooking videos on YouTube and growing vegetables in her garden—where things don't always go to plan. She also collects earrings, enjoying the hunt for unique pieces almost as much as adding them to her collection. She values hobbies that bring balance, creativity, and a sense of fun, and appreciates keeping life interesting and relaxed.
